Coralville Launches Revamped Website

Fresh appearance? Yes.
New features? Just a click away.
Worth browsing? Definitely.

Coralville has a new online presence following the redesign of the City's website: in February, a brand-new website debuted with the same familiar address, www.coralville.org. The previous site was retired due to changing technology, a need for increased online services, and the desire to provide e-government resources that are more responsive to citizens' needs.

Creating a user-friendly, aesthetically-pleasing website is just one of the benefits of the newly-launched redesign. Recognizing the convenience of an electronic 24-hour City Hall, the upgrade provides more online services for residents while improving efficiencies within the City. The new site, designed by CivicPlus, an award-winning government website design firm which serves nearly 500 municipalities, offers interactive features, a clean navigation, thoughtful page layout, up-to-date information, and ADA compliance.

New Features

The new www.coralville.org is designed to enhance communication between citizens and the City, provide convenience services to residents, and serve as a user-friendly tool for both website visitors and City employees.

Pay and View Utility Bills: The new Pay Online feature, accessible from any page in the website, provides residents with the ability to look up utility invoices, check utility consumption history, and view billing account history. Residents now also have the convenience of making utility billing payments online; users will need to enter their utility billing account number and the last name as it appears on their utility bill.

Notify Me: The revamped website offers a multitude of ways to keep citizens connected with the City. Coralville.org's new Notify Me email subscription system allows citizens to sign up for email alerts of job postings, City news, bid opportunities, Transit notices, City Council agendas and minutes, calendar events, and much more.

News Sent to You: Residents can also stay abreast of City news through RSS feeds and by following the City of Coralville on Facebook and Twitter.

Let Us Know: The new site offers expanded opportunities for residents to give feedback to City offices, allowing the City's website to serve as a two-way communication tool: site visitors may report concerns to City departments, ask questions, share kudos, and provide website feedback through the online Let Us Know feature. Online feedback can be provided anonymously or with a login so that progress can be tracked online at any time.

More Features: Additional new features include an online staff directory, expanded availability of City forms and applications, an archive center to browse a suite of City documents, online job application system, search engine, maps for calendar event locations, and a database of City facilities and area resources. An overhaul of online content, which included rewriting, reorganizing, and updating all the City's website information, completes the redesign. In addition, The Beat, the City's electronic newsletter, also received a facelift and is integrated with the website overhaul.

Budget for Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 2011 (FY 2011)

by Terry Kaeding, Finance Officer

Proposed Property Tax Rate

Property tax is the single largest source of revenue for the General Fund and accounts for approximately 58% of the estimated FY 2011 General Fund revenues. The City of Coralville's proposed property tax rate for July 1, 2010 through June 30, 2011 (FY 2011) is $13.5277 per $1,000 of valuation, which is .82% greater than the 2009-10 rate of $13.4177.

For fiscal year 2011, residential property owners will pay property tax on 46.9094% of their assessed value, which is an increase from 45.589% for FY 2010, and commercial property owners will continue to be taxed on 100% of their assessed value. Taxable value is determined by the State of Iowa which regulates the percentage of assessed value that property owners pay taxes on, which is referred to as "rollback." The factors that are used by the State in calculating the rollback percentage are:

- Growth limit of 4% imposed to limit greater growth in one class of property
- If statewide growth in any one class of property (residential, commercial, industrial, utility, or agricultural) exceeds 4%, the taxable value of that class of property is reduced to 4%
- Residential property growth cannot exceed agricultural property growth

In FY 2011, Coralville will have $575 million of total property exempt from property tax compared to $576 million in 2010. Coralville's total assessed valuation increased 3.43% while the total taxable valuation growth was 4.98% due to the rollback.

The following chart reflects the rollback impact on taxable valuation:

Taxable vs. Actual Residential Property

The estimated City property tax on residential property assessed at $100,000 would increase approximately $22.87 based on the proposed Coralville tax rate of $13.5277.

Property taxes paid to the City of Coralville for a home assessed at $100,000:

Coralville Levies

The proposed overall property tax rate of $13.5277 is composed of the following levies:

General: $8.10 – The General Levy cannot exceed $8.10 and is used to support the services of the General Fund as detailed in the General budget. Due to the $8.10 limit the amount collected can only increase by the growth in valuation.

THE PUBLIC HEARING ON THE PROPOSED BUDGET FOR FY 2011 WILL BE HELD ON TUESDAY, MARCH 9 AT 7:00 PM AT CORALVILLE CITY HALL

Budget

General - Tort Liability: $0.555 (increase of $0.070) – The General-Tort Liability Levy pays for the costs of the City's liability insurance.

Employee Benefits: $2.7525 (decrease of $0.0632) – The Employee Benefits Levy is a special revenue levy used to pay for certain employer costs of employee benefits including IPERS, FICA, and health insurance. The City levy amount is approximately 85% of the total employee benefit expense for the General Fund.

Debt Service: $2.1202 (increase of $0.1029) – The Debt Service Levy is used to pay principal and interest on the City's general obligation indebtedness.

The following chart illustrates the levy changes from FY 2010 to FY 2011 and includes the tax revenue each levy is expected to generate. The total proposed levy of $13.5277 for fiscal year 2011 is projected to generate a total of $11,314,288.

Sidewalk Repair Project 2010

Coralville's sidewalks are used daily for recreation and travel. Because broken or damaged sidewalks pose a safety hazard, the Engineering Department staff annually inspects the sidewalks in one of five areas in the City to identify sidewalks not meeting City standards, including specific criteria for cracks or separations, sections raised or depressed from grade, loose pieces, sloped sidewalks, and surface deterioration. Property owners are responsible for maintaining the sidewalk adjacent to their property.

In early April, Engineering Department staff will inspect sidewalks abutting public right-of-ways within Sidewalk Repair Zone 1 (see map) and will mark sidewalks requiring repair. If sidewalk repair is needed, property owners will be notified by certified mail and will be given 45 days to obtain a permit from the City, perform the work, and have the repair inspected. If the repair is not completed within this timeframe, the property will be placed on an assessment project list to be repaired by a contractor hired by the City. If the repair is done by assessment, the property owner will have the opportunity to pay for the repair before it is applied to the property taxes. For more information, contact Brian Steenblock at the Coralville Engineering Department at 319.248.1720 or via email at bsteenblock@ci.coralville.ia.us.

Flood Mitigation Projects Update

Significant progress has been made over the winter on the designs for the various flood mitigation projects that will be constructed in 2010.

The 1st Avenue Clear Creek Bridge Reconstruction was bid in February with construction beginning in March 2010. Two through traffic lanes will be maintained at all times. The goal is to have all five traffic lanes open to traffic in December 2010.

The Flood Recovery and Protection and Iowa River Landing Wetlands Park Improvements Project will be bid in early March and construction will start in late March. This project will provide flood mitigation berms, walls, and storm water pump stations as well as walkway and trail improvements in the Iowa River Landing area east of the Marriott Hotel and Conference Center. The majority of this work will be completed in 2010.

The Flood Recovery and Protection of the 1st Avenue Corridor Project will be bid in April with construction starting in May. This project will provide flood mitigation berms, walls, and storm water pump stations along the Iowa River from I-80 to 6th Street. This project is anticipated to be completed in January 2011.

The 1st Avenue Reconstruction Project – Clear Creek to 6th Street will be bid in May with construction starting in June. This project will widen 1st Avenue to five traffic lanes with 10 foot wide sidewalks on both sides. The goal is to have all five traffic lanes open by December 2010.

The CRANDIC Flood Mitigation Project will be bid in the summer of 2010 with construction starting in the summer of 2010 and completion anticipated in the summer 2011.

The 2010 Census: Every Person Counts

Questionnaires will be mailed or delivered to households in March for the 2010 Census, which is a count of everyone living in the United States — both citizens and non-citizens — and is mandated by the U.S. Constitution. The 2010 Census questionnaire will be one of the shortest in history and consists of 10 questions, taking about 10 minutes to complete.

It is vitally important that every household fill out the questionnaire on behalf of each person living in the residence, including relatives and non-relatives. The City of Coralville receives funds from the U.S. government based on the Census count of the population; Census data are used to distribute Congressional seats to states and to distribute more than $400 billion annually of government funding for critical community services.

Questionnaire responses should represent the household as it exists on Census Day, April 1, 2010. Because every person matters, in late April through July, Census takers will visit Coralville households that did not return a questionnaire by mail. Strict laws protect the confidentiality of respondents and the information they provide. For more information, visit www.2010census.gov.

He is brought by his friend, Froggy, to a fishing lodge in rural Georgia, where Froggy tells everyone that Charlie is a foreigner who doesn't understand a word of English. Soon, everyone is confiding in Charlie, including Betty, the lodge caretaker; Catherine, a beautiful debutante; Ellard, her sweet but slow brother; and David, the minister to whom Catherine is betrothed.

Upcoming Discussions:

March 10: Paper Towns by John Green
Florida is the setting of the 2010 youth title!
"Quentin — or 'Q.' as everyone calls him — has known his neighbor, the fabulous Margo Roth Spiegelman, since they were two. Or has he? Q. can't help but wonder when, a month before high-school graduation, she vanishes. At first he worries that she might have committed suicide, but then he begins discovering clues that seem to have been left for him, which might reveal Margo's whereabouts. Yet the more he and his pals learn, the more Q. realizes he doesn't know and the more he comes to understand that the real mystery is not Margo's fate but Margo herself." ~Michael Cart, Booklist, starred review

Charlie quickly discovers that all is not as it seems, and must somehow save the day without revealing his cover.

April 29: The Rover by Aphra Behn
One of the earliest English women to earn a living as a writer, much of Aphra Behn's life remains a mystery. She penned many plays, novels, poems, and pamphlets, yet still found time to work as a spy for Charles II. The Rover is Behn's most famous Restoration comedy.

May 27: The Threepenny Opera by Bertolt Brecht and Kurt Weill
The Threepenny Opera, with music by Kurt Weill, is one of Bertolt Brecht's most famous and successful works. Based on John Gay's Beggar's Opera, this social and political satire is loved for both its distinctive music ("Mack the Knife") and its dark, engaging characters.

April 14: Bruno, Chief of Police by Martin Walker

And now, we're off to France!
"Highly enjoyable . . . Martin Walker plots with the same finesse with which Bruno can whip up a truffle omelette, and both have a clear appreciation for a life tied to the land." ~The Christian Science Monitor

May 12: Nobody Move by Denis Johnson
In May, we're back to the U.S. for a little California noir.

"Set in the margins of California's Central Valley, a milieu that in some ways recalls Already Dead (1997), this pinballing tale concerns Jimmy Luntz, a compulsive gambler who owes money; Gambol, Juarez, and the Tall Man, the loan sharks who want to collect; and Anita Desilvera, an alcoholic knockout plotting to steal the money she's been framed for embezzling. Revenge-minded lowlifes clawing for cash constitute a classic crime trope but, as with the most satisfying crime fiction, plot is tertiary to character and setting." ~Keir Graff, Booklist

The response was so positive that you'll again discover the library stacks transformed into "caddy stacks." No need for a tee time here, just drop in between 11:00 am and 4:00 pm and putt away.

The fee to play is $5.00 per person and free for children age five and under. All proceeds will support the mission and programs of your Coralville Public Library.

Can't attend? There's still a chance to participate in a raffle for fantastic prizes. Purchase tickets at the Circulation Desk a week before Sunday's prize drawing. You do not need to be present at Putt Fore the Library to win.

Putt Fore the Library is sponsored by the Coralville Library Foundation Board, local area businesses, and community groups. For sponsorship opportunities, contact the library at 319.248.1850. There may be spots available for this year's event.

This family-friendly event is sure to "putt" a spring in your step and help support a great community asset.

Coralville Youth Sports Park Opens this Spring

Youth in Coralville will soon have a new place to play ball! New soccer fields at the Coralville Youth Sports Park will accommodate all ages of soccer, and multi-purpose ball fields will accommodate baseball play for children up to 12 years of age and softball play through high school.

"The quality and quantity of fields in one location is a big bonus for our department," said Sherri Proud, Director of Parks and Recreation. "Our current system has fields spread out over several locations. From a maintenance standpoint, it will be easier to maintain these fields and I think families will enjoy coming to one consistent location."

Along with high quality fields and amenities including red brick clay ball fields, field irrigation, level walkways, fencing, and scoreboards, fans will enjoy the Kattchee Pavilion – a 4,300 square foot shade structure with restrooms, concessions, and seating area. When not on the field, players can also use the batting cages or the playground next to the Pavilion.

Phase I of the project will be completed in mid-May. Use the first season will depend on the weather and turf growth this spring. "We will be watching how the spring progresses and that will determine how much play we will allow the first season. The last thing we want is to overuse it this year and have to repair in future years. Signs will be posted at the park as to whether fields are open or not and I hope the community understands the importance of this first year of growth," said Proud. First priority use will go to department-sponsored teams and events, with additional availability for other user groups through an application process. Details on rentals and use will be available by March 8 at www.coralville.org/youthsportspark.

Coralville Center for the Performing Arts

Seat Sponsorships Still Available

Construction has begun on the new Coralville Center for the Performing Arts, a 490-seat theater for community use in the heart of Coralville, at the corner of 5th Street and 12th Avenue. This facility, scheduled for completion in spring 2011, will offer full theater amenities, including an orchestra pit, fly space, balcony, trap room, sound board and light booth, catwalks, and multiple dressing rooms. Prospective users include dance companies, businesses, public and private schools, civic and service groups, and university affiliates. City Circle Acting Company of Coralville will make this space their performance home.

This partnership project is under construction by McComas Lacina Company and will be operated by the City of Coralville Parks and Recreation Department. The project also includes a privately owned, six-story commercial and residential facility that will share the lobby and elevators with the theater. The facility is conveniently located in Town

Center and on the Civic Campus, within walking distance of grocery stores, coffee shops, the Coralville Public Library, Recreation Center, City Hall, financial institutions, and more.

You can be a part of this excitement with a seat sponsorship, which will be permanently recognized in the lobby spaces of the Center. Main level sponsorships are available at $750 and balcony level sponsorships are available at $500. Contributions are tax deductible and a thoughtful way to demonstrate your support for the arts.

Community Fund Awards 2009 Grants

The Coralville Community Fund has awarded 2009 community benefit grants totaling $5,394. The Fund was able to make the grants from earnings on its Endowment Gift Fund. Grants to the seven Coralville-based recipients listed below were distributed at an awards luncheon on January 8:

- Coralville Central Elementary - $1,000 toward after-school reading and math program
- Coralville Ecumenical Food Pantry - $1,000 toward computer equipment
- Coralville Public Library - $1,000 toward a historical collection of political and topographical maps
- Coralville Scout Reach - $375 to support 15 youth in Kirkwood KICKS Program in partnership with Coralville Parks and Recreation
- Free Medical/Dental Clinics - $250 toward infrastructure upgrade
- Iowa Children's Museum - $1,000 toward a photo exhibit of the alphabet as seen in nature

- Kirkwood Family Resource Center - $769 for transportation of 80 people to parent-teacher conferences, Kicks Field Trips, and school events for families

In its first three years, the Fund has provided nearly $25,000 to a wide variety of charitable organizations that benefit the Coralville community. As the Endowment Gift Fund grows, more and larger grants to support charitable needs in Coralville will be possible.

Contributions to the Endowment Gift Fund in 2010 are fully deductible for Federal income tax purposes. The contributions are now eligible for a 25 percent Iowa income tax credit under the Endow Iowa Program; for example, a $10,000 contribution is eligible for a $2,500 tax credit.

Contributions to the Coralville Community Fund should be sent to Coralville Community Fund, c/o Community Foundation of Johnson County, 325 East Washington Street, Iowa City, Iowa 52240. For more information, please call 319.337.0483 or write to Mike Stoffregen, Executive Director.

Imagine an organization that can purify drinking water, teach people how to build a rain garden, respond to emergency situations, televise community events, notarize documents, solve traffic pattern issues, rent a banquet facility, pick up your recycling and solid waste, inspect a child safety seat, and provide transportation to three different communities and the University. Would you imagine that all this -- and more -- is available through the City of Coralville? The wide variety of services offered by the City benefits residents in many ways — but just how does it all happen?

The City of Coralville is offering an exciting opportunity to go behind the scenes and gain unique insight into the workings of Coralville through a series of interactive, informative classes. The 2010 Inside Coralville series features one-time and multi-week classes beginning later this spring through the fall, led by representatives from City departments. Sign up for one class or as many as you like! Topics cover city government and finance, public safety, public works, public transportation, library, parks and recreation, telecommunications, building and zoning, engineering, and Coralville history. Many classes incorporate hands-on activities and include tours highlighting areas such as City Hall, Police Station, Fire Station, Wastewater Treatment Plant, Water Plant, and Streets Department. Sessions for the 2010 Inside Coralville series are FREE. Class sizes are limited to 25 participants.
